Ask yourself

Why is blood-based nutrient testing important? The answer is compelling!

- The 36 year Riordan Clinic history is built on nutrient testing to measure your individual biochemical status.
- Mainstream medicine doesn't normally test for vitamin, mineral and other nutrient deficiencies.
- Nutrient deficiencies have been shown to suppress immune system function, which leads to chronic disease, such as cancer and heart disease.
- Are you already taking supplements? Find out if your body is assimilating them correctly.
- People with degenerative diseases can still receive benefits from these nutritional panels. By increasing nutrients to optimal levels, a better response to treatment usually occurs.
- Our panels provide a guide to supplementation and diet to optimize your health.
- Go to our website at www.riordanclinic.org for more detailed information.
